

2022 Lindsay Orange Blossom Festival
Grand Marshal
Ms. Diane Mendivil

Diane Mendivil, where do you even start? Many may recognize the name, but everyone will recognize her welcoming face. Diane has done a lot for the little town of Lindsay over the years and it will not go unrecognized. She and her family moved to Lindsay in 1942 and like the rest of us just fell in love with the town. She loves being able to walk the streets and have a conversation with anyone she runs into, "Lindsay is just a friendly city; everyone has always been so welcoming."

Diane has been on our Orange Blossom Festival Committee for as long as she can remember, and we were all sad to see her leave. Her favorite part of the festival would have to be the carnival, which is where you many of you may recognize her from. Every year in front of the once Bob's Drive-In, Diane was out there with other committee members selling carnival tickets and reminiscing with many over the thrill of the festival.

When she was told she was selected as this year's Grand Marshal the excitement and joy in her voice said it all; one could just tell that she was completely grateful to have been chosen. So with great honor we would like to present to you this year's grand marshal: Diane Mendivil.
